Regional Coordinators—The seven statewide RCs at NBRC met at NBRC on April 15-17 to review the support provided to NBCTs and NBPTS candidates in Illinois. The RCs are strategic in creating a framework of support which includes sessions for Jumpstart, Advanced Candidates, Assessment Center Preparation, Take One!, and Certification Renewal. RCs communicate with sixty-three Candidate Cohort Facilitators (CCFs) throughout the state to plan cohorts for the Illinois candidates. RCs are efficient in creating face-to-face cohort groups that are central to large groups of candidates and virtual support to outlying candidates. Cohort sessions for the 2011 candidates will be posted on the NBRC website in the fall.

ILLINOIS TEACHER OF THE YEAR RECEIVES ANOTHER HONOR — NBCT, Annice Brave, the 2010 Illinois Teacher of the Year and English and journalism educator at Alton High School, was recently selected to receive the National Education Association Award for Teaching Excellence. She was recognized for her accomplishments in front of 1,300 association delegates and guests at the Illinois Education Association’s annual Representative Assembly in Rosemont, IL. Brave is one of four finalists in the national Teacher of the Year competition held by the Council of Chief State School Officers.

CHICAGO PUBLIC SCHOOLS NBPTS provider, Debbie Glowacki will facilitate a five week mentoring class at Talcott Academy beginning on April 28th. Topics include; Principals of Adult Learning, Coaching Techniques, and Working With Candidates. Interested Chicago NBCTs should register using CPS University. Call 773.535.0740 for more information.

NBCTS MAKE A DIFFERENCE IN BEARDSTOWN — NBCT, Dr. Lynn Gaddis collaborated with principal Cheryl Summers to initiate the Take One! program at Gard Elementary School in Beardstown, IL. Dr. Gaddis facilitated as teachers used the Take One! materials to guide their decisions in adapting teaching methods to fit individual students, planning and reflecting on classroom instructional practices within the context of national teaching standards, and forming a professional learning community. The standards, questions, rubrics, instructions, and note-taking guide helped teachers to show evidence of the Architecture of Accomplished Teaching. NBCTS Aimee Veith and Sherry Humphries supported the teachers by meeting them individually and in small groups as they completed the Take One! portfolios. NBCTS Shelly Reichert, Jennifer McGowan, Tracey Boyer, Sherry Zaerr, and Carole Allert provided additional support to participants by reading their portfolios and offering feedback. “I see the cohort continuously questioning what they do as they focus on all students’ involvement in learning,” Summers said. This authentic, ongoing professional development experience has enabled Beardstown teachers to use the NBPTS Take One! process to link subject matter knowledge and effective teaching practices to student learning and achievement.
